She said she couldn't live without them.