

Presenter Biographies

SUSAN MILLSTEIN, LCSW, MPH

Susan Millstein has been with the New York State Department of Health Diabetes Program since 2002 as Coordinator of Community and Partner Initiatives, Program Manager, and presently as Manager of Domain 4 in CDC's State Public Health Actions to Prevent and Control Diabetes, Heart Disease, Obesity and Associated Risk Factors and Promote School Health grant. Ms. Millstein's previous experience includes community health education, and clinical social work. Ms. Millstein received a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology in 1986 from the State University at Oswego, and both a Master of Social Welfare (1994) and a Master of Public Health (2007) from the University at Albany. She was a recipient of the Max Siporin Scholarship in Social Welfare, NYS Public Health Leaders of Tomorrow (PHLOT) scholarship, and was a graduate of the first inaugural CDC Short Course on Diabetes Translation.

MICHAEL A. FISCHER, MD, MS

Michael Fischer is a primary care physician and health care researcher at Harvard Medical School and Brigham and Women's Hospital. His research evaluates prescription drug reimbursement policy; medication adherence; the appropriate use of prescription drugs; and the impact of electronic prescribing. He is the Director of the National Resource Center for Academic Detailing, an initiative supported by the Agency for Health Care Research and Quality, to assist organizations implementing interventions to increase the practice of evidence-based medicine.