The National Diabetes Prevention Program (National DPP) Coverage Toolkit helps payers and those making the case for coverage fully understand the program, navigate the steps needed to cover it, and access detailed information and resources. The Toolkit is organized according to payer type: Medicaid agencies, Medicaid managed care organizations (MCOs), commercial payers (health plans and employers), and Medicare. A virtual overview is available that describes the site’s organization, provides tips for navigation, and highlights tools and resources.

Visit the Cost and Value, the Medicaid Case for Coverage, and Commercial Case for Coverage pages for resources to help public and private payers understand the value of covering the National DPP lifestyle change program. The Toolkit also includes information on Scaling and Sustaining the National DPP, including how to engage accountable care organizations (ACOs).

NACDD and Leavitt Partners developed the CoverageToolkit.org with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Division of Diabetes Translation in 2017. The Toolkit was developed as part of a demonstration project to develop Medicaid coverage models for the National DPP lifestyle change program.
