

What about the conference left a lasting impact on you regarding your state's work on addressing food and nutrition insecurity?

Lived experiences are very important national strategy

link to healthy weight interventions

It confirmed we are on the right track.

A substantial amount of funding would be needed to truly change the landscape in Oklahoma.

The importance of working with for-profit companies, along with the government and NGOs to tackle some of these large problems

White House focus

It was great to have the work elevated at the national level

Glad to hear that SDOH is being recognized, but there is a lot more education awareness that needs to happen

What about the conference left a lasting impact on you regarding your state's work on addressing food and nutrition insecurity?

The pervasive influence of food companies on national policy.

Leadership

Our organizational capacity needs strengthening

I really appreciated the focus on hunger as a byproduct of economic inequality

Work on local food sustainability and supply chains.

X

How aligned are your SPINE SAPs and Activities to the National Strategy on Hunger, Nutrition, and Health?

