Breakout Discussion Questions

Breakout Session Worksheet

Topic Overview

Engaging physicians in breast, cervical, and colorectal cancer testing options is essential for improving early detection and reducing cancer disparities. Effective provider engagement can increase screening rates, foster patient trust, and ensure that diverse patient populations receive appropriate guidance on available testing. This session will facilitate discussion around successful strategies, common barriers, and collaborative approaches to strengthen physician partnerships in cancer screening efforts.

Instructions

Individual Preparation: Before attending the Peer-to-Peer Call Series, please take a few minutes to review the discussion questions on this worksheet. Jot down brief notes or key points for each question based on your own experiences or insights. These notes will help guide your contributions during the breakout session and ensure a rich, productive conversation.

Group Discussion: Once the breakout session begins, each participant will have an opportunity to share their thoughts and responses to the questions. As a group, discuss common themes, unique strategies, and challenges that arise. Record key ideas, suggestions, and action items that emerge from your discussion. Be prepared to share highlights or notable takeaways with the larger group during the full session debrief.

Discussion Questions

1. What approaches or strategies have you used to successfully engage physicians in promoting breast, cervical, or colorectal cancer screening?

2. What barriers have you encountered when working with providers on cancer screening, and how have you addressed these challenges?

1. What approaches or strategies have you used to successfully engage physicians in promoting breast, cervical, or colorectal cancer screening?
2. What barriers have you encountered when working with providers on cancer screening, and how have you addressed these challenges?
3. How can collaboration among peers or across programs enhance physician engagement and improve screening outcomes?
4. What additional resources, tools, or supports would be helpful for building and sustaining effective physician partnerships in your program? (Please share any specific materials, platforms, or strategies you have found useful.)
